

Fed'l Gov't Blind To Infiltration of Red Traitors and Spies

Senator Martin Says Never Was There Greater Need For Brave Men

Special to The Courier

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 17—The Federal government has been "blind to the infiltration of Communist traitors and spies into sensitive agencies where they have had access to defense secrets," U. S. Senator Edward Martin charged here last night during a Pennsylvania Week dinner honoring Col. Frank S. Gabreski, U. S. Air Force Ace.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been a greater need for brave men to fight for freedom and all that we hold dear," the Senator added.

Senator Martin spoke as follows: "The struggle in which we are now engaged will decide whether we are to continue as a Nation of free men or whether the world, including the United States is to be conquered and enslaved by Communism.

"We face an enemy that knows no truth, no honor and no God. "We are threatened by an evil force that conspires in darkness to spread its poisonous philosophy wherever free men look to God as the author of liberty.

"Already, cruel tyranny and oppression dictated from the Kremlin have fastened the chains of slavery upon 800,000,000 human beings in Europe and Asia.

"The Communists look with greedy eyes to the last great citadel of freedom, the United States of America, as the final goal of their evil conspiracy for world conquest.

"How can any decent American fail to recognize Communism for what it really is—an evil, malignant, infection that will destroy all that we hold sacred if it gains mastery over the minds and souls of men?

"Nevertheless it is the tragic truth that Communism has gained a foothold amongst us.

"Its corrupting influence has invaded many of our schools and colleges.

"It has stirred up strife and discord in some of our labor unions.

"It has gained supporters among so-called intellectuals whose fuzzy-

Rev. Christopher J. Atkinson To Be at Morrisville for Eight Days

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 17—Under the slogan, "Enlist in His Army," the Rev. Christopher J. Atkinson, noted Episcopal missionary, will conduct a community mission from Oct. 19th through October 26th in the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, here.

Mr. Atkinson, Rector of St. Faith Church, Brookline, has had 28 years experience as a missionary. Beginning in his native England under leadership of the Rev. Wilson Carille, famed British missionary, he gave up a business career to become a member of the Church Army. This is a laymen's missionary organization of the Church of England. Later he was a co-founder of the Church Army in the United States, training young Episcopalians for Church Army work, and traveling extensively in this country in his missions.

The Rev. William T. Warren, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, said persons of all denominations are invited to the services, which will be held Sunday through Friday at eight p. m. and Sunday, October 26, at 11 a. m. Holy Communion will be celebrated Monday through Saturday at 10 a. m. and Mr. Atkinson will be in the church daily for consultation from 10:30 a. m. until noon.

DEMOCRATIC EFFRONTERY

Looking over a sample ballot the other day, we ran into the name of Guy K. Bard. He is the Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, contesting for the seat held by the Republican candidate, Senator Edward Martin.

Bard's name raised a chain of memories and reactions. Here we are, in a year when corruption in the national government is a major issue; the biggest issue of all, according to General Eisenhower. Even the Democratic candidate for President, Governor Stevenson, has conceded that there is what he terms "a mess" in Washington.

Here the Democratic Party is, promising that there will be a "change" at Washington—the same policies, but new, cleaner and more capable hands to administer them, with purge of the crooks, cronies and incompetents thrown in for good measure.

And here is Guy K. Bard, who was strictly a local-level politician in Lancaster county most of his life—and whose one and only claim to fame is that he battled successfully to bottle up the Little New Deal scandals in Harrisburg back in 1938, when conditions quite similar to those at Washington existed there.

And Pennsylvania's Democrats, for all their party pledges to "clean up the mess", have agreed to try to send to Washington a man whose mere election could be interpreted later as having given the Democrats a clean bill of health on this whole subject of corruption.

Bard's record at Harrisburg is worth at least a thumbnail review. The assertion that he personally helped lead the fight to cover up for corruption there sounds tough, but the facts warrant it, together with the further statement that he was directly involved in the enactment of the disgraceful "immunity laws" of 1938 which would have put all state officials of Pennsylvania forever outside any ordinary civilian power to investigate, try, and convict.

Looking back, a good many Pennsylvanians who have forgotten the details have a hazy impression that the Republicans stirred up a fuss about supposed irregularities in the Earle administration, that these were investigated and found to be groundless, and that therefore the whole matter is one of those things to be dismissed as "politics".

The facts are, of course, that the charges of scandalous misbehavior in office were made primarily, not by Republicans, but by Democrats. Senator Guffey told a Philadelphia audience, early in 1938, that if the truth came out, there would be a worse scandal in Harrisburg than that produced by the Capitol exposures in 1907, which produced five suicides and nine jail sentences.

Several other Democrats echoed these charges, in whole or in part, and eventually the Democratic Attorney General, Charles J. Margiotti, demanded a grand jury investigation.

In a radio address on April 28 he said he had evidence

School Board Wants Seismograph Set Up At New High School

Steps Are Taken to Procure Instrument to Record Ground Shocks

John E. Paul, president of the Neshaminy Joint School Board has announced that the board is considering the installation of a seismograph to the foundation of the new high school to determine whether ground-shocks from a nearby quarry might cause damage to the cinder-block foundation walls of the new school.

Already steps have been taken in the direction of procuring the seismograph.

According to Paul the instructions to the architect came after consultations with board and authority members and the engineers and architects working on construction at the site.

Steps have been taken to procure the vibration-recording machine, said Paul, in an effort to protect the $2,000,000 project from any damage which might occur to it because of its proximity to the quarry.

The Franklin Institute has been contacted in an effort to determine just what kind of an instrument is best for use at the high school, and the board was advised that it required an instrument of the type presently in use by oil companies in their studies of rock formations, and an oil company has been contacted in an effort to procure an

Sent To Jail For Failure To Report For Duty As Juror

Earl Pennock, Langhorne, Blames Break-Down of His Car for Failure to Report

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 17 — Judge Edward G. Biester yesterday committed a Common Pleas Court juror Earl C. Pennock, Langhorne, R. D. 1, service station attendant, to the county prison.

Pennock, who was brought into court after a bench warrant was issued late Wednesday gave as his excuse that his car broke down. "I realize I was late and didn't come in," said the defendant.

Judge Biester ordered Pennock committed to prison for contempt of court until this morning.

Deputy Sheriff Charles F. O'Brien, Pennel, yesterday attended the bench warrant on Pennock at his home, near Langhorne.

When Deputy Sheriff O'Brien contacted the place where Pennock resides Wednesday he was informed that Pennock left for civil court Wednesday morning.

Pennock, who appeared late on Tuesday, was given a second chance by Judge Biester. He failed to show up on Wednesday and Judge Biester ordered a bench warrant issued.

"In more than the 30 years I have been in the Sheriff's Office this is the first time I ever remember a Judge sending a juror to jail for contempt," said one of the Deputy Sheriffs.

Credits Growth of Valley To Freedom of America

"It could only happen in America, in an atmosphere of freedom," that's how Fred R. Mann, president of Seaboard Container Corporation describes the spectacular upturn forward of Delaware Valley, U. S. A.

Many months before national attention spotlighted the once-sleepy region, Seaboard had constructed a huge, modern plant in Bristol to supplement its facilities in Newark, N. J., Mobile, Ala., Reading and Philadelphia, Pa.

Led by Mann, who also serves as Philadelphia's Commissioner of Recreation and heads up the world-famous Robin Hood Dell, Seaboard's Bristol plant became a show place of the corrugated box industry.

POLIO LOSES A SKIRMISH

Since scientists were first able to isolate the virus which causes polio in human beings two decades ago their next problem has been painfully clear. Some way had to be found to grow the virus outside the human body—which has been done—in such manner that the virus could be made into an immunizing vaccine in large quantities.

A report presented at the University of California indicates that this difficult step may have been accomplished.

Actually there are three strains of virus which cause polio. The virus which has been grown successfully in living chick embryos is the Lansing strain—the second most common type—although scientists believe it may be the most deadly.

The new vaccine has been tried on monkeys without bad effect. Most significantly, all of them developed protective anti-bodies in the bloodstream, which was the key factor scientists had been searching for. They hope the vaccine may also produce an immunity to the other two strains of the virus.

The research staff of the Lederle Laboratories, which brought off this new development, doesn't expect to have a vaccine in large quantity until 1954, and none is available now. Apparently the problems of manufacture are as knotty as the one which had to be overcome in the basic research. However, the use of fertilized eggs appears to have broken a major bottleneck.

In the declining weeks of what is the worst polio season in recorded medical history, the impact of this announcement is tremendous. The public has learned not to grasp at straws or read more into a restrained scientific announcement than is actually there. But the announcement removes some of the terror of the unknown because it is clear more is now known about this dread enemy of man.

The National Weather Improvement Association has been chartered. Mark Twain's complaint that everybody talked about the weather but did nothing about it has finally brought results.

America has a stockpile of several hundred A-bombs, according to estimates. It is to be hoped these eggs are not all in one basket.

POLIO LOSES A SKIRMISH

Since scientists were first able to isolate the virus which causes polio in human beings two decades ago their next problem has been painfully clear. Some way had to be found to grow the virus outside the human body—which has been done—in such manner that the virus could be made into an immunizing vaccine in large quantities.

A report presented at the University of California indicates that this difficult step may have been accomplished.

Actually there are three strains of virus which cause polio. The virus which has been grown successfully in living chick embryos is the Lansing strain—the second most common type—although scientists believe it may be the most deadly.

The new vaccine has been tried on monkeys without bad effect.
Most significantly, all of them developed protective anti-bodies in the bloodstream, which was the key factor scientists had been searching for. They hope the vaccine may also produce an immunity to the other two strains of the virus.

The research staff of the Le-den Laboratories, which brought off this new development, doesn't expect to have a vaccine in large quantity until 1954, and none is available now. Apparently the problems of manufacture are as knotty as the one which had to be overcome in the basic research.
However, the use of fertilized eggs appears to have broken a major bottleneck.

In the declining weeks of what is the worst polio season in recorded medical history, the impact of this announcement is tremendous. The public has learned not to grasp at straws or read more into a restrained scientific announcement than is actually there.
But the announcement removes some of the terror of the unknown because it is clear more is now known about this dread enemy of man.

The National Weather Improvement Association has been chartered. Mark Twain's complaint that everybody talked about the weather but did nothing about it has finally brought results.

America has a stockpile of several hundred A-bombs, according to estimates. It is to be hoped these eggs are not all in one basket.

involving high Democratic party and administrative officials in such offenses as: sale of legislation, kick-backs for building contracts and purchase of equipment, borrowing of money by state officials from persons seeking state contracts. Many other alleged offenses later were included, such as bribery in the liquor administration.

When Attorney General Margiotti refused to surrender to the Governor the evidence he claimed to have proving some of these matters, the Governor fired him and attempted to appoint Dr. Herbert F. Goodrich, of the University of Pennsylvania, as his successor.

That was where Bard came in. Dr. Goodrich declined the appointment, and Bard, who was a former Guffey protege that had recently deserted to Earle, got the job.

Bard immediately set about trying to get the lid back on. Things were popping in all directions. The Dauphin county court, at Margiotti's urging, started a grand jury investigation. Bard hired supplementary counsel and asked the State Supreme Court to call this off. Meanwhile Bard promised an independent investigation of his own, which never materialized, and tried to get the all-important evidence into his own hands on that excuse.

The Supreme Court, on a split decision, called off the Dauphin County court investigation on technical grounds, but when these were corrected, permitted it to continue. A Democratic Judge, Paul N. Schaeffer, of Reading, was appointed to preside over the investigation since the three Dauphin county judges, attacked personally by the Governor for their politics, asked to be relieved.

Meanwhile, the frightened executive heads of the State desperate over the turn of events, called a special session of the legislature (under tight Democratic control) for the principal purpose of passing laws to prohibit or hamstring any investigation of their alleged misconduct. These laws later were unceremoniously ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The legislature meanwhile proceeded with a phony or "whitewash" investigation for political purposes.

Bard's connection with these matters includes the following: First, acting throughout in the role of personal council for the governor rather than chief law-enforcement agent of the people.

Second, impeding at every point the Dauphin County investigation, and eventually trying to supercede the Dauphin County District Attorney, in which he was sharply rebuffed by the Democratic judge in charge.

Third, failing to conduct any competent and impartial investigation of his own into the scandals (a distinct and obvious duty of any attorney general) despite his frequent promises to do so, and in fact, in disregard of a flat order from Governor Earle that this be done.

Fourth, preparation, or at least, prior approval, for the so-called "immunity laws" putting governors and other state officials beyond the reach of any investigation which they themselves couldn't control.

Fifth, certifying to the governor that these obviously improper and politically motivated laws were proper and constitutional. Such certification is, of course, one of the routine functions which attorney generals perform for the chief executives. The laws, passed and signed on July 30, were tossed out by the courts as unconstitutional two months and two days later—October 2.

Does the citizenry of Pennsylvania have any serious thought of sending a man with a record like that to Washington at a time when the great domestic question confronting our national government is how to clear itself of the leeches and fleas planted on the body politic by the Pendergast gang?

instrument of that type according to Paul.

Paul explained that the board felt it necessary to obtain the seismograph in order to have an accurate record of shock-waves reaching the school. If damaging waves are recorded, Paul continued, the board will have conclusive evidence of such shock-waves and will appeal to the state to require a quarry operator to use smaller charges in blasting operations. Should damaging effects be felt even after this procedure were carried out the school board would take under consideration petitioning the state to require suspension of operations at the quarry, Paul explained.

The possibility exists that the seismograph will show that no vibration exists at the school site, stated Paul, and in this event the instrument will quiet disturbing rumors concerning damage to the school walls.

whose denominations the Levittowners express interest. The results will also be filed with the Phila. Council of Churches, to be kept confidential for church use.

For the Bucks County Planning Board, the census workers will also count the various means of transportation Levittown resident use to get to work, and the general regions in which their work is located.

A directory of local churches will

In acknowledging the contribution of the census takers, Mr. Halko said, "You are doing an evangelistic program on a mass scale with an individual approach. When you bring someone into the church, you change the course of his life."

"We are trying to build the kingdom of God by bringing every man, woman and child in Levittown into the sphere of influence of a church."

Mr. Halko has directed similar church surveys in Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D. C. He said they have all been successful.

The host minister, the Rev. Rowland A. Carlson, pastor of Harrieland Methodist Church, greeted the volunteers and clergymen attending. The meeting was opened with an invocation by the Rev. George E. Boswell, pastor of St. James Episcopal Church, and closed by the doxology and benediction, led by the Rev. Carlson.

Other pastors who attended were: The Rev. Stanley A. Powell, Jr., of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Edgely; Kent R. Larrabee, secretary of the Friends Service Council of the Delaware Valley; the Rev. Glenn H. Wampole, Zion Lutheran Church; the Rev. Ralph E. Proud, Jr., Bristol Methodist Church; the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, Bristol Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Robert Thompson, Pilgrim Presbyterian Church, Edgely; and the Rev. Theodore Pavlidis, Fairless Hills and Fallsington Methodist Churches.

When Attorney General Margiotti refused to surrender to the Governor the evidence he claimed to have proving some of these matters, the Governor fired him and attempted to appoint Dr. Herbert F. Goodrich, of the University of Pennsylvania, as his successor.

That was where Bard came in. Dr. Goodrich declined the appointment, and Bard, who was a former Guffey protegee that had recently deserted to Earle, got the job.

Bard immediately set about trying to get the lid back on. Things were popping in all directions. The Dauphin county court, at Margiotti's urging, started a grand jury investigation. Bard hired supplementary counsel and asked the State Supreme Court to call this off. Meanwhile Bard promised an independent investigation of his own, which never materialized, and tried to get the all-important evidence into his own hands on that excuse.

The Supreme Court, on a split decision, called off the Dauphin County court investigation on technical grounds, but when these were corrected, permitted it to continue. A Democratic Judge, Paul N. Schaeffer, of Reading, was appointed to preside over the investigation since the three Dauphin county judges, attacked personally by the Governor for their politics, asked to be relieved.

Meanwhile, the frightened executive heads of the State desperate over the turn of events, called a special session of the legislature (under tight Democratic control) for the principal purpose of passing laws to prohibit or hamstring any investigation of their alleged misconduct. These laws later were unceremoniously ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The legislature meanwhile proceeded with a phony or "whitewash" investigation for political purposes.

Bard's connection with these matters includes the following: First, acting throughout in the role of personal council for the governor rather than chief law-enforcement agent of the people.

Second, impeding at every point the Dauphin County investigation, and eventually trying to supercede the Dauphin County District Attorney, in which he was sharply rebuffed by the Democratic judge in charge.

Third, failing to conduct any competent and impartial investigation of his own into the scandals (a distinct and obvious duty of any attorney general) despite his frequent promises to do so, and in fact, in disregard of a flat order from Governor Earle that this be done.

Fourth, preparation, or at least, prior approval, for the so-called "immunity laws" putting governors and other state officials beyond the reach of any investigation which they themselves couldn't control.

Fifth, certifying to the governor that these obviously improper and politically motivated laws were proper and constitutional. Such certification is, of course, one of the routine functions which attorney generals perform for the chief executives. The laws, passed and signed on July 30, were tossed out by the courts as unconstitutional two months and two days later—October 2.

Does the citizenry of Pennsylvania have any serious thought of sending a man with a record like that to Washington at a time when the great domestic question confronting our national government is how to clear itself of the leeches and fleas planted on the body politic by the Pendergast gang?

instrument of that type according to Paul.

Paul explained that the board felt it necessary to obtain the seismograph in order to have an accurate record of shock-waves reaching the school. If damaging waves are recorded, Paul continued, the board will have conclusive evidence of such shock-waves and will appeal to the state to require a quarry operator to use smaller charges in blasting operations. Should damaging effects be felt even after this procedure were carried out the school board would take under consideration petitioning the state to require suspension of operations at the quarry, Paul explained.

The possibility exists that the seismograph will show that no vibration exists at the school site, stated Paul, and in this event the instrument will quiet disturbing rumors concerning damage to the school walls.

whose denominations the Levittowners express interest. The results will also be filed with the Phila. Council of Churches, to be kept confidential for church use.

For the Bucks County Planning Board, the census workers will also count the various means of transportation Levittown resident use to get to work, and the general regions in which their work is located.

A directory of local churches will

be left at each home after the interview.

In acknowledging the contribution of the census takers, Mr. Halko said, "You are doing an evangelistic program on a mass scale with an individual approach. When you change the course of his life."

"We are trying to build the kingdom of God by bringing every man, woman and child in Levittown into the sphere of influence of a church."

Mr. Halko has directed similar church surveys in Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D. C. He said they have all been successful.

The host minister, the Rev. Rowland A. Carlson, pastor of Harrison Methodist Church, greeted the volunteers and clergymen attending. The meeting was opened with an invocation by the Rev. George E. Boswell, pastor of St. James Episcopal Church, and closed by the doxology and benediction, led by the Rev. Carlson.

Other pastors who attended were:

The Rev. Stanley A. Powell, Jr., of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Edgely; Kent R. Larrabee, secretary of the Friends Service Council of the Delaware Valley; the Rev. Glenn H. mindful thinking leads them to believe they can plan better than God.

"And even our government itself was blind to the infiltration of Communist traitors and spies into sensitive agencies where they had access to defense secrets involving the safety and security of our homes.

"The tragic price we are paying in precious American lives on Korean battlefields is a clarion call to the courage, sacrifice and patriotism of every American.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been a greater need for brave men to fight for freedom and all that we hold dear.

"Never has there been a greater need for unquestioned loyalty in every activity of American life.

"Never has there been greater need for every American to defend the principles which Colonel G. G. Breski has defended with unsurpassed heroism.

"His example clearly calls upon us to guard the ramparts of freedom with more watchful vigilance than ever before. We must fight Communism at home with 100 per cent Americanism.

"We must drive out of our educational institutions every teacher who would undermine faith in the American way of life. We must drive all Communists and their sympathizers out of our government, our labor organizations, our fraternal societies and every other group where they can do harm.

"We must teach the youth of our land that America means freedom of the individual and unlimited opportunity while Communism offers nothing but slavery under State dictatorship.

"We must safeguard the ideals of America by strengthening obedience to the laws of God and man.

"We must rebuild the strength of America in the spirit of all the heroes and patriots who gave us and preserved our land of freedom and opportunity.

"In that spirit and with faith in God, we can build an invincible and unconquerable United States that will stand forever as a bulwark of honor, justice, freedom and peace in the world."

mindful thinking leads them to believe they can plan better than God.

"And even our government itself was blind to the infiltration of Communist traitors and spies into sensitive agencies where they had access to defense secrets involving the safety and security of our homes.

"The tragic price we are paying in precious American lives on Korean battlefields is a clarion call to the courage, sacrifice and patriotism of every American.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been a greater need for brave men to fight for freedom and all that we hold dear.

"Never has there been a greater need for unquestioned loyalty in every activity of American life.

"Never has there been greater need for every American to defend the principles which Colonel Gaboriau has defended with unsurpassed heroism.

"His example clearly calls upon us to guard the ramparts of freedom with more watchful vigilance than ever before. We must fight Communism at home with 100 per cent Americanism.

"We must drive out of our educational institutions every teacher who would undermine faith in the American way of life. We must drive all Communists and their sympathizers out of our government, our labor organizations, our fraternal societies and every other group where they can do harm.

"We must teach our young people that Communism would destroy all human freedom.

"We must teach the youth of our land that America means freedom of the individual and unlimited opportunity while Communism offers nothing but slavery under State dictatorship.

"We must safeguard the ideals of America by strengthening obedience to the laws of God and man.

"We must rebuild the strength of America in the spirit of all the heroes and patriots who gave us and preserved our land of freedom and opportunity.

Bensalem Girls Win Second Game of The Local Hockey Season

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 17—Bensalem Township High girls won their second game of the Lower Bucks County Field Hockey League yesterday afternoon, defeating Pennsbury High girls, 2-0, on Hanes' field.

The first was by Roberta Wetzel while the second was a fine piece of co-operation with the backfield hitting the ball hard down the field until Wetzel and Rose Doneker were in scoring position. Wetzel passed to Doneker who batted the ball past the goalie for the point.

Lineups:

Things Which Pass Knowledge
The lady who was given the privilege of teaching the Crown Prince of Japan called him "Jimmy". There can be no such intimacy in our fellowship with God. Sometimes I think we go too far in our hymnology in describing our fellowship with God in Christ. There must always be the recognition of the fact that we are the creations of God.

Yet on the other hand, Christ, while accepting the worship of His disciples, delighted in their fellowship. While His mission to the north after His resurrection was primarily to send His disciples forth to feed the sheep and lambs, one cannot help feeling that our Lord rejoiced in the renewal of fellowship with these men He had lived with through times of achievement and peril.

What is this fellowship which is so enriching? It is a fellowship in the gospel, in which we go with our Lord witnessing to His redeeming power. It is the fellowship of righteousness, wherein we now share the same love of right, goodness and truth. He has. It is a fellowship of ministering to those in physical as well as spiritual need. It is a fellowship of the spirit, in which we grow in knowledge of the things of Christ. It is a fellowship of suffering, as we take up our sacrificial tasks for Him. It is a fellowship one with another, as Christ is our Leader. This is a fellowship without limitation.

Baker Home Soon to Have A Touch of Autumn

Linden Lane Family Is Decorating Living-Room In Green and Pumpkin

By Staff Reporter

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 17—There'll soon be a touch of autumn inside the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker, of 10 Linden lane, as well as in the countryside around this community.

The Bakers are decorating their living room in a dark green and pumpkin-colored motif. Mrs. Baker has made some attractive dark green boucle drapes for the picture window, and the family is selecting some modern-style furniture which they will have covered in the two autumn shades.

The Bakers moved here Sept. 9th, but they lived in Bristol for the previous four years, at 18 Schumacher drive. Mr. Baker is a native of the borough; his wife comes from West Virginia.

They met and were married in El Paso, Texas, during World War II, when he was on army duty at Fort Bliss and she a nurse at El Paso City-County Hospital. The marriage ceremony took place at the Fort Bliss post chapel.

Mrs. Baker trained as a registered nurse at Weston, W. Va., General Hospital, and did surgical supervision work before her assignment in El Paso.

Mr. Baker is foreman in the enamels plant of Kaiser Metal Products, Inc. A member of the Foremen's Ass'n of America, he is president of the Kaiser plant's unit of that organization.

Mr. Baker's mother, Mrs. Edith Baker, makes her home with the family. The Bakers have a five-year-old son, Howard, or "Chip," who is an enthusiastic member of the Fallington School kindergarten class. "Chip" is so fond of school, his parents report, that he gets up early every morning to ask if he can go to kindergarten yet.

There's a touch of Mrs. Baker's Dixieland background in the household. That's Manda, a six-year-old yellow cocker spaniel, who is a southern belle herself from West Virginia.

Mr. Baker is a member of Robert W. Bracken Post, American Legion, of Bristol. He is also active in the Bristol Fish and Game Protective Ass'n. He hunts pheasants in Bucks County and deer in the Pocono Mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Baker are both fishing enthusiasts and have an outboard motor they use on angling trips.

LEVITTOWN, Oct. 17 — Karen Erhard is a native of Levittown. She was born two weeks ago, a few days after her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Erhard, moved from Reading to 1 Sugarmaple lane.

Her father has opened a general practice in his house, at the corner of Sugarmaple lane and Stonybrook drive West. At present the doctor's office is in the small bedroom, but the carport is being enclosed and extended into a medical unit. It will include two treatment rooms, a waiting room, a consultation room and a lavatory.

Dr. Erhard, a graduate of Jefferson Hospital Medical School, Phila., recently completed his internship at Reading Hospital. His wife, Joan, a registered nurse, worked at Reading Hospital after their marriage. She trained at Hahnemann Hospital, Phila., and served on the staff there.

Dr. Erhard is a Navy veteran of World War II. He went around the world on a cruiser and destroyer escort.

Knitting and crocheting are hobbies of Mrs. Erhard's but Karen is now taking up most of her time. There's a singing canary in the Erhard home.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By Ollie Hobbs
(Pinch Hitting for Joe Elbertson)

Deer season for bow and arrow hunters opened October 15th, but I didn't get any reports from local hunters as yet. I know several of the local boys were going to take part in this sport, but I haven't heard of any of them getting a deer.

I see the duck hunters around the river are out looking over the duck grounds and building their blinds or getting dead grass to fix the ducks on their boats. You know you don't have much time left to get ready for the season opens October 20th at 12 Noon. Then you will see plenty of activity along the river and the streams which harbor ducks. Duck hunting can be a very dangerous sport if you aren't careful. There are a few of the things for which you have to watch out:

A loaded gun in a boat when you are going to the shooting grounds is very dangerous, so keep it unloaded until you get to where you are going. You are not allowed to shoot from a boat which is running under power.

Do not hunt too close to the next hunter, give him plenty of room. Do not hunt too close to the river, stay about 100 yards away and be safe, and everyone will be happy. See what you are shooting at to make sure no one is in the line of fire.

Don't run after a crippled duck with a loaded gun, you might fall and shoot yourself or someone who may be near you.

Do not stand around in a gang with your guns pointed at each other.

Make sure your gun is unloaded before you get out of your boat or when you are putting the gun in your car. Be careful in your boat, you know it will be dark when you go out in the mornings and when you are running at high speed you might hit a log floating in the water and upset. Keep out in the channel going and coming.

Do not go near anyone's decoys. This is very dangerous because he'll get mad enough to do most anything. If you see a hunter sneaking up on a duck, stop and give him a chance to get his shot because he might have waited all day for that shot and you could spoil it by barging in on him.

When you get to your blinds, stay in them as much as you can because when you move around you might stop the ducks from coming in. It's a bad habit to keep running back and forth to your decoys. This really spoils duck hunting. I'm a duck hunter and I know how I feel when someone keeps running around.

Put your decoys out so the wind and the tide will not make them run together. It is easier to put them out the right way, then you don't have to go out and straighten them out every half hour. You will stool more ducks if you put them out so they look real.

I have been up the river above Washington's Crossing and they are catching nice wall-eyes and small mouth bass. There was one wall-eye taken last week which weighed six pounds. I was talking to one fellow who caught three small mouth bass on Saturday. The river is low but good and clean. This sends the fish down in the holes making it better for the fishermen. You can wade out before you get into deep water.

They are catching the wall-eyes on a June bug spinner with a night crawler trailing the spinner. The small mouth bass are being taken with bait.

For the surf fisherman... They are catching a few strippers along the coast from Asbury Park to Sandy Hook. They are taking weakies weighing about two pounds each near Atlantic City Inlet and also a few flings. Plenty of small sea bass are in all the bays and a few porgies.

They are now starting to catch carp in Silver Lake. In the river at Edgely I saw one fisherman who took ten carp in two days. I know of other fishermen who are taking carp out of the river, but I just couldn't catch up with them to get their story.

Norristown Elks Are To Bowl Here on Saturday

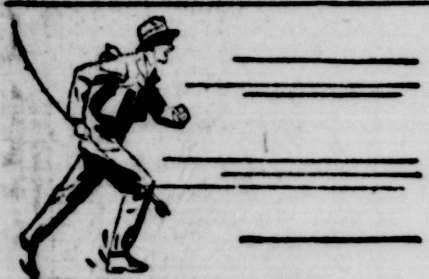

Norristown Lodge of Elks bowlers will meet the Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. E. bowling team here Saturday evening. Both teams are members of the southeast district bowling league.

The Bristol team will entertain the Norristown team in the Elks Home after the match.

Members of Bristol Lodge are urged to be present to welcome the visiting lodge men and their wives.

Warriors Primed For Win Over Southampton

Elated over its win of last week, the Bristol High team will go after its second Lower Bucks County League triumph tomorrow night when it meets Southampton High under the lights on the local grid-iron at 8:15 o'clock. There will also be a preliminary game at six o'clock with the Bristol High Jayvees meeting Delhaas Jayvees.

Two other league games are also on tap for the week-end. Tonight at Langhorne, Neshaminy High will be entertaining Council Rock High and tomorrow afternoon on Haneswell's field, Bensalem Township, Bensalem High will clash with Pennsbury High. The latter game will begin at two o'clock. In a non-league scrap tonight, Morrisville High will journey to East Stroudsburg to play the unbeaten and untied high school of that place.

The Warriors scored their first victory of the season last Saturday against Council Rock. Prior to that, Coach "Chick" D'Angelo's boys had lost three straight and had not scored a point. But the lads feel that the tide has changed and there will be a fight all the way for the Warriors to retain their championship.

The boys were in high spirits during the practice sessions this week the local followers feel that the Council Rock victory was the stimulant that was needed to put the fight into the team to battle for the crown.

It is doubtful whether Frank Manzo will be in the lineup against Southampton. Manzo pulled a muscle in the Hamilton High game and sat out the Council Rock fracas. Russ Johnson filled in as center and did a fine job, both offensively and defensively.

A Council Rock win over Neshaminy tonight will change the entire course of the Lower Bucks Circuit. Neshaminy is unbeaten in league competition and present indications point to the Redskins to capture the title. But "Sags" Sagolla has a fine array of talent, although inexperienced, and may pull a surprise by beating the Neshaminy boys.

Should this happen, then there will be a wild scramble for first place with practically all the teams still in the running.

Bensalem has a one and one league record with Pennsbury having two wins and a defeat. Pennsbury barely got by with Southampton last week, winning 12-6 in the last three minutes of the game.

Coach Marlon VanHorn's Owls beat Council Rock early in the season and since then have lost to PSD and Morrisville. Its season record is one win and four defeats so the boys are anxious to redeem themselves and intend to take it out on Pennsbury.

league scrap tonight, Morrisville High will journey to East Stroudsburg to play the unbeaten and untied high school of that place.

The Warriors scored their first victory of the season last Saturday against Council Rock. Prior to that, Coach "Chick" D'Angelo's boys had lost three straight and had not scored a point. But the lads feel that the tide has changed and there will be a fight all the way for the Warriors to retain their championship.

the Council Rock victory was the stimulant that was needed to put the fight into the team to battle for the crown.

It is doubtful whether Frank Manzo will be in the lineup against Southampton. Manzo pulled a muscle in the Hamilton High game and sat out the Council Rock fracas. Russ Johnson filled in as center and did a fine job, both offensively and defensively.

A Council Rock win over Neshaminy tonight will change the entire course of the Lower Bucks Circuit. Neshaminy is unbeaten in league competition and present indications point to the Redskins to capture the title. But "Sags" Sagolla has a fine array of talent, although inexperienced, and may pull a surprise by beating the Neshaminy boys.

Should this happen, then there will be a wild scramble for first place with practically all the teams still in the running.

Bensalem has a one and one league record with Pennsbury having two wins and a defeat. Pennsbury barely got by with Southampton last week, winning 12-6 in the last three minutes of the game.

Coach Marlon VanHorn's Owls beat Council Rock early in the season and since then have lost to PSD and Morrisville. Its season record is one win and four defeats so the boys are anxious to redeem themselves and intend to take it out on Pennsbury.
